NINETEEN FOURTEEN

AN ANNUAL
PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASS OF
CLEMSON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE
CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C.

VOLUME SEVEN

Dedication

To those whom in our youth
we were often wont to heed not;
to those who have borne with us, and whose sacrifices have made this work a possibility;

To Our Fathers

ever toiling for us,
do we affectionately dedicate this volume, as an appreciation of their genuine worth, and of their loyalty to us.

Our Patient "Dads"

WHEN we were tots, just young and small,
The habit then was formed to call
On Dad.

At night, when frightened in our beds,
A steady wail rose from our heads
For Dad.

Whene'er we hungered wild for sweets,
The ear that hearkened to our bleats
Was Dad's.

When from the righteous path we erred,
And mother our hopeless case referred
To Dad,

Instead of sending us to bed,
He took us to the old woodshed—
Did Dad.

When foolish questions we would ask,
The man who rallied to the task
Was Dad.

Whene'er a penny we did want,
The one whose footsteps we did haunt
Was Dad.

And now our bills are not so small,
The C. O. D. just means to "Call
On Dad."

History of the Class of 1914

NIGHT has settled on the Great American Desert. Facing each other opposite a small fire of sedgebrush, built in a cimaron, are stretched two figures wrapped in blankets. One is medium old. The hair on his head is gray; his face shows fine lines, a square jaw, and kind blue eyes; but the sunken chest and the hollow cough sounding therefrom at intervals told a tale that we need not here relate. The other is medium young. He is veritably a chip off the old block, except that his chest and shoulders have an athletic build.

The younger man speaks as if in answer to a question—

"Mine, you say, father?" A dreamy look of pleasant recollection flows across his face.

"Ah, they were my comrades, father."

"Year, did you ask? Why '14' to be sure. I thought that was carved indelibly on the foundations of your memory."

"Yes, ours was the Class of '14. There has been none like it either before or since, and when there is I will take my knapsack and wend my way thither"—and he jerked his thumb westward—"to the land of the vanishing sun, leaving this land to that perfect generation."

"Yes, I admit, there was a little prepishness among us, a little bit of snobbishness, some narrowness, due to our inexperience, and quite a deal of ignorance; but when it came to the real thing—the acid test—those men of the Class of '14 would reach out their hands to one another across the petty little chasms of everyday life, and grasping those of their brothers they would pull together with a steadfast cling that did more for them as men than anything else in all the world has done or ever can do. When it came to the sacrifice of the individual for the good of that bunch, I tell you, father, there was not one that would not do it. They were the kind that knew and appreciated a man for what he was worth; and only men of that kind now wear this"—and he held up a hand on which was a "'14."

"Right well do I remember when we first came together. It was in the Fall of 1910. Three hundred and some strong we were; but time, providence, and certain men with short legs and Roman noses and various other distinguishing characteristic epithets, thinned us down from year to year, until, at graduation, we numbered only seventy-six.

"Some came at the beginning with their purpose mapped out, and they stuck to it admirably well. Others came in the hope that something would turn up which would put them on the right road to success. Still others came listlessly, caring not for what they came, and knowing not unto what it would lead them—but, do you know, father, how many of the latter graduated with us? Not one.

"We had genius, wit, ability, pathos, kindness, respect for all things made by the Great Creator. We had men that would not set foot on a worm needlessly, yet those same men would not hesitate to draw their swords against the greatest antagonist of the common good.

"Our men established themselves at college shortly after their arrival there, and by the time we were Sophomores our fame had gone abroad. Our Class stood for the highest honor system obtainable; and we maintained it, too. We made the dirt fly in athletics. Two from our ranks have been numbered on the famous all-Southern teams. Fourteen of us wore the coveted 'C.' We established an athletic record that has been the envy of the other classes. We raised some sand in the Literary Societies. We had speakers that were famous all over the State. Leaders in Agriculture and Engineering were found in our ranks in no small numbers.

"They are now in various and sundry places. From the Sudan, where the cholera fight is raging, to the frozen lands of the Klondike, there are men wearing the honored '14.' We have good-natured, jovial planters in the Sunny South, and cold, calculating business men in the world's metropolis. They are a credit to themselves, an honor to their college, and loyal and patriotic citizens of their State. I tell you, father, they are the men that make the world go round"—the last was spoken dreamily.

The fire had died low. Sounds of deep breathing coming from across the fire settled like sweet music on the tired nerves of the young man; the waking world of rattlers, tarantulas, and vinagarones, that dare not cross the coiled rope, knew him no more; and

"The flowing sands of the cactus land, sweeping by with a hollow roar, Found them sleeping in a cimaron, where their fathers slept before."

—HISTORIAN

GEORGE MILLER ARMSTRONG
BARNWELL, S. C.

Sergeant; Lieutenant Quartermaster and Commissary; Lieutenant and Adjutant.

AGRONOMY; President Columbian Literary Society; Vice-President Agricultural Society; Literary Staff Agricultural Journal; Literary Staff TAPS '14; Associate Editor of The Tiger; Secretary and Treasurer Student Press Association; Senior Agronomy Club; Y. M. C. A.; President Barnwell County Club; Debater Society Annual Celebration.

Exactness, capacity for work, and frankness well characterize this young man. GEORGE considers the facts, and then acts accordingly. He is of studious habits and exemplary character. To know GEORGE is to like him. Though quiet and unassuming, he has reaped his share of college honors. His friends are numbered by the score, and we all join hands in wishing him a successful and happy career.

"He acts well his part, and there all honor lies"

CHARLIE WALTER BAKER
MARION, S. C.

Band; Senior Private.

AGRONOMY; Columbian Literary Society
Agricultural Society.

LITTLE CHARLIE hails from Swamp Fox territory and is noted for his escapades (?). On account of his great military genius, he is sometimes called CAESAR. In handling the "Shovel," CHARLIE is very proficient. Sometimes he forces wind through a cornet but would rather play a tune on a cash register. A great future lies before him, as he has decided to vote his time to the betterment of the social condition of the hookworm.

"Music hath such charms"

DAVIES KIRKLAND BANKS
ST. MATTHEWS, S. C.

Sergeant; Lieutenant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; President Calmetto Literary Society; Debaters' Medal Annual Celebration '14; Y. M. C. A.; A. I. E. E.; President Calhoun County Club; Track Team '12, '13, '14; Class Football '13; Literary Editor of Chronicle; Literary Staff Annual.

Dingle, dingle, little star,
How we wonder what you are,
Up above the class so high,
Like a Steinmetz in the sky.

What it took to "shoot" them all for block hunders, "DINGLE" happened to have. We know that he going to show those fellows at Cornell next year something about Electricity.

*"A peace above all earthly dignities,
A still and quiet conscience"*

JOHN COLLIER BARKSDALE
LAURENS, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; First Lieutenant; Captain.

AGRONOMY; Captain Sophomore Championship Football Team '12; Class Football '13; Head Waiter '12, '13, '14; Assistant Business Manager Chronicle '13; Business Manager TAPS '14; Agricultural Society; Secretary, Vice-President, Chaplain, Critic, President Calhoun Literary Society; Orator Annual Celebration; President Dr. Riggs Bible Class '14; President Laurens County Club; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet '13; President Y. M. C. A. '14.

Ability, openness, and fearlessness well characterize this budding entrepreneur. JOHN holds many honors among us; and the financial success of this book is due in a great part to his untiring efforts. When we leave college we shall have many pleasant remembrances of hours spent in JOHN'S company. His ambition is to become a dairy farmer of Laurens County, and probably be one of the political bosses of the State.

"He is wise worldly, but not worldly wise"

BENJAMIN PRESSLEY BARRON
YORKVILLE, S. C.

Corporal; Battallion Sergeant-Major; Captain and Commissary.

CIVIL ENGINEERING; Junior Dancing Club; Senior Dancing Club; President Yorkville-Rock Hill Club; House of Mirth; "No-Count Nine"; Cotillion Club.

This little lad strayed into our midst in the Winter of 1911. Having been blessed by the gods of mathematics, BENNIE was at once admitted to the ranks of the "Hoboes." Since then he has been a loyal follower of our Chief. BENNIE never carries a hammer, but rather a good word for everyone. With such ability and character, we expect great things from him in the future.

"Thou canst not then be false to any man"

JOEL ANDERSON BERLY
POMARIA, S. C.

Sergeant; Captain.

ENTOMOLOGY; Y. M. C. A.; Agricultural Society; President Rifle Club; Secretary and Treasurer Sunday School.

In the Fall of '09, JOE, commonly known as "POOR MARY," arrived at college; and, casting his lot among the noble class of "Preps," he has been true to them ever since. He is known by all as the good-natured boy who never shirks his duty. Although JOE never aspired to military fame, his faithful service has raised him to the rank of Captain. His future career is to be envied, as some day he will rank among the chief entomologists of the times.

"I have never seen anything in the world worth getting angry about"

HAROLD SMITH BOOZER
NEWBERRY, S. C.

Sergeant; Lieutenant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Y. M. C. A.; Junior Electrical Science Club; A. I. E. E.; Vice-President Newberry County Club '13 and '14.

HAROLD deserted the Lutherans at Newberry, in the Spring of 1912, and came to Clemson to develop his atent electrical engineering faculties. But, after cultivation of a taste for drill and reveille, he showed remarkable military development, capturing a sergeant and later a lieutenant. Regardless of political tastes, his genial disposition has won him many friends, who predict for him a most successful career as an electrical engineer in the little city of Newberry.

"A shining countenance MAY betoken wisdom"

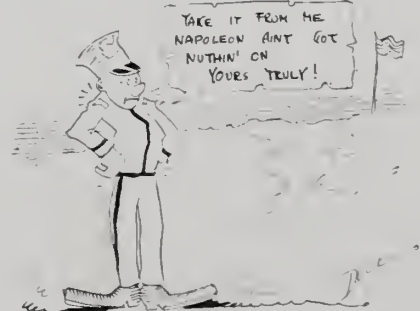

ARNOLD RILEY BOYD
MOUNT CARMEL, S. C.

Corporal; First Sergeant; Major; Captain Picked Company.

ENTOMOLOGY; President Student Press Association; President Rifle Club; Prosecuting and Reporting Critic, Vice-President Palmetto Literary Society; Presiding Officer Annual Celebration; Associate Editor Agriculture Society; Treasurer Y. M. C. A.; Finance Committee and Advisory Board Y. M. C. A.; Manager Y. M. C. A. Choir; Secretary and Treasurer Sunday School; Senior Dancing Club; Tech. Debater; Representative S. C. I. O. A. Contest '14.

Three cheers for Mount Carmel's product—handsome, studious, ambitious, and a very agreeable companion. His general military figure and special First Sergeant record won for him Major of the First Battalion and Captain of the Picked Company. ARNOLD expects to acquire distinction as a lawyer or banker, and we see no reason why he will not reach the top, since he believes in doing what is right, and sticking to it.

"To become a diplomatic and successful man—'tis a consummation devoutly to be wished"

WILLIAM FOOTE BRAWLEY
CHESTER, S. C.

First Sergeant; Sergeant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Class Football '13; Class Historian '11; Tiger Reporter '13; Co-operative Committee '14; President Junior Electrical Science Club; Executive Committee A. I. E. E.; Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Dancing Club; Round Dozen; House of Mirth; Lieutenant Senior Privates; President Bachelors' Society.

When "FOOTE" set out for Clemson, it was with the determination to be a "real noise," and so systematically has he carried out his plans that even the most conservative are forced to admit that he has attained his goal—witnesses: the Commandants, the cadets, and the professors. This same quality blasted his military aspirations in their infancy. If "FOOTS" succeeds as well in accumulating Electrical knowledge as he has in gathering "Extras," his success in life is a certainty.

"The pain of one maiden's refusal is drowned in the pain of the next"

GEORGE HAROLD BROWNE
Rock Hill, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Senior Private.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Varsity Baseball '13, '14; Varsity Football '13; Class Football '11, '12; Captain Class Championship Team '13; A. I. E. E.; Block "C" Club; Vice-President York County Club; Junior and Senior Electrical Clubs; Second Lieutenant Senior Privates.

"SKEET" may very appropriately be designated a one hundred and sixty pounds of pure, unadulterated nerve. "SKEET's" qualities as an athlete are second to none in his Class. Like the lillies of the field, "SKEET" toils not, neither does he spin—except when engaged in leading the host on "Cummins' Square." He accomplishes locomotion by an airy tread, suggestive of an Indian war dance.

"He smiles when he wins, and laughs when he loses"

VIRGIL FLORIN BRYANT
ORANGEBURG, S. C.

Senior Private; Band.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.

"Puss," who hails from the "House of Orange," heard of the "Hobo" course soon after reaching college. Thinking this to be an easy road to a dip, he joined ranks with the Civils, but found his course to be harder than a hobo's life. He began his college career by taking life easy, and delights in going loafing. It is said that he took fifty shots to bring down a "tame" duck. On account of being too military, Puss failed to get an office, but we hope to see him accomplish his ambition by getting a colonel in the Engineering Corps.

"Never do today what can be done tomorrow"

ERNEST McMILLAN BYRD
HARTSVILLE, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Lieutenant and Adjutant; Captain.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; A. I. E. E.; Vice-President Darlington County Club; Y. M. C. A.; Columbian Literary Society; Student Press Association; Clemson Rifle Team '13, '14.

BYRD is a deep thinker, a sleeper of sleepers, and a snorer of snorers. He has distinguished himself as a military genius, having won many honors, and introduced a new kind of salute. BYRD advances the idea that the A. I. E. E. hall could be beautified by using "Chanticleers." He is a "Jack-of-all-trades," and success will come his way if he does not get mixed up in love and live wires.

"A fair question is half knowledge"

JULIUS LAFAYETTE CARSON, JR.
SPARTANBURG, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant.

AGRONOMY; President Class of '14; Chief of Literary Staff TAPS '14; Exchange Editor Chronicle; Secretary and Treasurer Agricultural Society; Athletic Council '14; Co-operative Committee '12; Literary Critic Columbian Literary Society; Orator's Medal '14; Varsity Football '11, '12, '13, '14; Senior Straights; Block "C" Club; Cotillion Club; "Firm."

Resourcefulness, force, and stamina well characterize this sturdy young Spartan. "JULE" enjoys life to the fullest extent; its happiest moments to him are spent either in sleep or with his pipe. "DOC JULE" is always happy, except when he is the "goat" of a joke; then look out, friend, you are rushing in where angels fear to tread. "JULE" is a true friend, a good athlete, and an orator that sways his audience. We predict for him a long life of success.

"A trained ear, a careful tongue, a willing hand—three requisites of happiness and success"

HENRY ELIAS CHAMBLISS
HARDINBURG, KY.

D. D. C.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Executive Committee of A. I. E. E.; Charter Member Bachelors' Society; Senior Private; Round Dozen.

"HEC" hails from the land of the blue grass, fine horses, fair women, corn whiskey, and colonels. He arrived at Clemson in the Fall of 1910, and with his good nature and broad smile soon won the friendship of all. "HEC" cast his lot with the D. D. C.'s, and since then has been a constant attendant on Cummins Square.

"A good strong character, with independence and for"

ROBERT EMMETTO COX, JR.
ABBEVILLE, S. C.

Sergeant; Captain Senior Privates.

AGRONOMY; Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Dancing Clubs; Agricultural Straights; Agricultural Society; "Firm"; German Club.

From the land of "peach kernels and gully water," "GONNY" came to enliven the sad inhabitants of Clemson with his smiling face and ready wit. When not engaged in this arduous task, he may be found expounding the doctrine of "the rights of a Senior" to the Colonel, or making his pocket money by selling corporals to the Rats. After taking a course in one of the higher universities, he will return to Abbeville, and demonstrate the value of scientific farming to the "Hill Billies" of that county.

"Then he will talk—ye gods! how he will talk!"

FRED CONNOR DANTZLER
HOLLY HILL, S. C.

Sergeant; Lieutenant.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY; Y. M. C. A.; Vice-President Palmetto Literary Society; Agricultural Society; Literary Staff Agricultural Journal.

FRED was born near the little village of Holly Hill, S. C., on September 4, 1893. He entered Clemson in '09, when quite a small lad; but, after remaining in college for one year, he decided that the Class of '13 did not suit him, so he stayed out of College a year, and joined the Class of '14. He was struck with a bright idea soon after entering college, and he has never fully recovered. We predict a glorious future for this youngster.

"The evil that men do lives after them;
The good is oft interred with their bones"

MARION ADAM DANTZLER
CAMERON, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Captain; Senior Private.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; A. I. E. E.; Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Dancing Clubs.

"STRAWBERRY," or "DAN," hit Clemson in '09, and was assigned, for obvious reasons, to the "Prep." kingdom. This good-natured lad has been climbing ever since, and is now a loyal subject of our Class. The privates in "C" Company swear by him. "STRAWBERRY" is a firm believer in not letting his studies interfere with his education. Though uncertain his future may seem, it is safe to say that he can make good if he so desires.

"I am sure care is an enemy to life"

CLARENCE ENGLISH DESCHAMPS
SUMTER, S. C.

First Sergeant; Senior Private; Lieutenant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Class Football '11, '13; Scrub Football '13; Track '11, '12, '13; Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Dancing Clubs; Junior Electrical Science Club '13; A. I. E. E.; Round Dozen; Picked Company '12; Y. M. C. A.; German Club.

The college career of this sturdy Sumter lad has been a winning fight against many ups and downs. He left us during his Freshman year to attend the Naval Academy. However, fortune favored him not, and he returned to Clemson. In studies and athletics, "NAVY" has shown great ability. Make-up work troubled "NAVY," and he troubled his classmates with his near-jokes. His smiles, electricity, and tales of "up yonder" will provide a home somewhere for him.

"When the roll is called 'up yonder,' I'll be there"

JOSEPH BENJAMIN DOUTHIT, JR.
SANDY SPRINGS, S. C.

Corporal; First Sergeant; Lieutenant; Senior Private.
AGRICULTURE AND ANIMAL INDUSTRY; Class Football '10; Vice-President Athletic Association '11; President Class '11; Manager Class Football '12, '13; Co-operative Committee '12, '13, '14; Assistant Manager '13, and Manager Varsity Football Team '14; Chronicle Staff '13; Editor-in-Chief Chronicle '14; Assistant Business Manager TAPS '14; Literary Staff Agricultural Journal '14; President Calhoun Literary Society; Declaimer '12; Orator's Ideal '13; Debater '14; Executive Committee S. C. I. A.; Treasurer S. C. P. A.; Sec'y and Treas. Junior Fraternity Club; Manager Hop '13; German Club.

"SUJAH" is the guy that put Sandy Springs on the map. His smiling, open countenance bespeaks a sunny disposition, which to know is but to love. His athletic career was cut short in his Freshman year when he suffered a broken leg. His college life has been filled with various happenings, yet his optimistic smile and cheerful greeting have never been known to fail. He has taken a leading part in all college activities. He is a business man, and it is a sure wager that Wall Street will be his home.

"Minnie, pull down the yellow shade; the man wants a green suit!"

JAMES EARLE DUNLAP
HARTSVILLE, S. C.

Corporal; First Sergeant; Major.

AGRICULTURE AND CHEMISTRY; Y. M. C. A.; President Darlington County Club; President Calhoun Literary Society; Presiding Officer Annual Celebration '14; Chemistry Club; Agricultural Society; Business Manager Agricultural Journal '14.

Though born in California, "MAJOR" migrated to South Carolina before he could help himself. He registered from Hartsville; and may that old town consider herself honored in having so worthy a representative. He has gathered many honors and friends during his stay among us. "MAJOR" always shines on battalion drill; even the hills sit up and take notice when he gives a command. He will meet with that success which is due only to the energetic.

"Industry can do anything genius can"

ANDREW LEROY EDWINS
ORANGEBURG, S. C.

Corporal; Battalion Sergeant-Major; Captain.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Chief Marshal Annual Celebration Columbian Literary Society '14; Y. M. C. A.; A. I. E. E.; Y. M. C. A. Basket-ball Team; Junior and Senior Dancing Clubs; Manager Orangeburg County Club '13.

This lad, commonly known as LEROY, entered Clemson in the Fall of '10 with a determination to win for himself a "dip." He is a great student in Electrical Engineering. One of his chief occupations while in the laboratory is the connecting of ammeters. He stands well in his Class, for "shooting" is his speciality.

"Whence is thy learning, that thy toil o'er books hath consumed the midnight oil?"

CLAUDE RILEY EMERSON
HODGES, S. C.

Sergeant; Second Lieutenant; First Lieutenant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; A. E. E.; Scrub Baseball '10; Captain Gymnasium Team '14; Class Football, Championship Teams '11,

"CHUBBY" is a good scout, and a hard worker. is a little "gun-shy" around the ladies, but we have hopes for him. English was his Waterloo, and was often heard moaning "You Made Me What Am Today"; but he would soon come back with "Should Worry." "CHUBBY" was a mainstay on our undefeated Class teams. His ability to take the as they are is one of his most notable characteristics.

"He stands four square to every wind that blows."

JOHN WATSON ERWIN
SPARTANBURG, S. C.

Corporal; Regimental Sergeant-Major; Lieutenant Adjutant; Senior Private.

TEXTILE; Y. M. C. A.; Class Co-op. Com. '12, Vice-Pres. Class '12, '14; Vice-Pres. Junior Danc-Club; Pres. Senior Dancing Club; Asst. Mgr. Junior-Senior Hop; Tennis Team '12, '13, '14; Mgr. Tennis Team '14; Pres. State Intercollegiate Tennis Co. '14; Secy. and Treas. Southern Intercollegiate Tennis Asso. '14; Co-winner Southern Intercollegiate Tennis Championship Doubles; Varsity Basket-ball '13, '14; Asst. Mgr. Basket-ball '13; Capt. and Asst. Mgr. Basket-ball '14; Block "C" Club; Cotillion Club.

JOHN, better known as "SOOK," had great military imitations when he first entered college. In his Junior year he attained the highest honors offered along these lines. Alas, in his Senior year this dream was rudely shattered, and "SOOK" may be seen "one-stepping" around the square on Saturday afternoons to the tune "Gimme that good old Senior Private." His chief characteristic is his frankness and utter fearlessness, and we have claimed for him the admiration of his whole class.

*"Straightforward and fair

"Doc" is famed for many things, chief among which is his ability as an athlete, as a Class leader, as an editor, and student. Among all our associations in college we have not sounded material that has come nearer giving the true ring, and nearer showing the true blue, than has this piece. A South Carolina newspaper once said "Clemson will some day be famous as that school attended by DOC EZELL." So, friends, we leave him to you until the next writing.

"His vision is broad; and he sees quite through the majority of students, bestriding, as he does, this narrow world like a Colossus"

JOHN ERNEST FLETCHER
McColl, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; First Lieutenant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Junior Electrical Science Club; A. I. E. E.; Marlboro County Club.

McColl claims the subject of this sketch. "FLETCH," like many others, is noted for his expenditure of energy in telling how hard the Electrical course is. In his Senior year, "FLETCH" formed the habit of making frequent visits to Calhoun (to buy cigarettes of course [?]). His smiling countenance betokens a sunny disposition, which to know is to like. His many friends predict that he will some day become chief engineer of the Westinghouse Electric Company.

"Seize common occasions, and make them great"

ARTHUR PELZER GANDY
DOVESVILLE, S. C.

Corporal; First Sergeant; Captain; Lieutenant.

AGRONOMY; Varsity Football '10, '12, '13, '14; Captain Varsity Football '14; Track Team; Co-Sophomore Class Teams '13, '14, Champions Corresponding Secretary, Vice-President Columbia Literary Society; Circulating Manager Chronicle Block "C" Club; Agricultural Society; Y. "HOP" and "Action" both come from the lore of football tradition. Ancient history does not relate to this remarkable warrior began his football career. This handsome fellow has been mistaken for an Apache, an original American, and a husband; so his apparent qualities are so manifold as to be quite misleading. What "HOP" doesn't know, one will never know, he doesn't know. To "What HOP GANDY says," the world lends a listening ear.

"Much study is a weariness of the flesh"

ERNEST RYAN GILMORE
SANTUC, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Lieutenant; Captain.

AGRICULTURE AND CHEMISTRY; President Union County Club; Agricultural Society; Chemistry Club; Class Football '12, '13; Glee Club '11, '13.

"Doc" comes from the romantic and historical city(?) Santuc; which, unfortunately, is not on the map, but would be. He was a very promising member of our class until he met his "soul's affinity" during the Summer of '13, and since then he has done nothing but propose those letters that lead to matrimony. We do believe that he has fully realized his capabilities, but when he does a successful career will be open to him.

Of the four years "TOMMY" has spent at Clemson, not much has been wasted. His career as a speaker deserves honorable mention—having won four medals before finishing the Junior Class. Yet with all this ability to sway the multitudes, TOMMY's actions speak louder than his words. We expect to hear from "TOMMIE" in our legislative halls after his law course at Virginia.

"JOCK," or "WRECK" as he is popularly known, is noted for his "never-give-up spirit." One of his greatest desires after entering school was the winning of the "C," and a place on the Varsity football squad. We were very glad to see his desire attained, after three years of hard work. "WRECK" has won many friends by his pleasant countenance and jovial disposition. We predict for him unqualified success in whatever he undertakes.

TEAGUE, by the great power of inheritance, is known to everyone in school as "FINGER." "FINGER's" disposition has won him many friends. He is always in a good humor. TEAGUE doesn't know the meaning of the word flunk—his record is as clear as his complexion. "FINGER" is a lieutenant, and if his military figure and characteristic way of counting step do not get him a job in the army, he'll revolutionize farming in Laurens County.

"JABO!" We don't know what this name means, but it certainly contains strong adhesive qualities to the name-named individual. "JABO" is a good scout, an all-around, good-natured, jolly fellow, with an inborn capacity for making friends. This stalwart youth is so well-versed in affairs military that the Colonel graduated him, and gave his captaincy to one who needed the experience. He hails from the realm of the Spartans.

DICK's good looks, grace, and sunny disposition have always made him a favorite with both sexes. He is another of those mortals born to lead—not to serve. Under the new regime, however, like others of us, to him each week comes the notice for "gentleman's exercise." His college successes will follow him through life, making him a leader in his chosen profession—Electricity. Here's luck to the popular "Sumterite."

"PLATO" is a great philosopher, and an oratorical genius. He is of a very congenial nature, and never fails to make friends. He is a good, consistent worker, when "Poodle," his room-mate, will permit. "M. W.," being barracks' electrician, is an incessant mender of lights. His greatest failing is in the use of large, perplexing words. He is a great admirer of the fair sex. His ambition is to settle down in some quiet spot that he can call home.

"BUSH," simply "BUSH" or "JACK," a "game" lad, happened into Clemson from—the letters indicate—Remberts. "JACK" is one of the "good scouts"; for he takes the world as it comes, and is thought highly of by everyone. His ability to make friends will cause him to make a success of life. Though he claims membership, he is not devoted to the teachings of the "Bachelors' Society." Chief fault—lover of the "Colored"

The success of this youth from the Mountain City is remarkable. "JIMMIE JAMES," unlike his namesake, won his fame in open combat. Many are the gridiron warriors who have felt JIMMIE'S fierce onslaught. His talents are unlimited. He was Hobo's star rodman, Colonel's chief engineer, the "Rats" terror, and a "good fellow" to everyone else. He soon discovered the shortest distance between two points, and that slowly moving machines last the longest. His greatest ambition is to get a line on Savage (S. C.)

As "FRANK," "SAM," "SARGE," "RAM," was "hoboing" his way from the "Bottry," en route to Atlanta, one dark night in the Fall of 1910, he was kicked off the "caboose" near Seneca trestle for not dividing his "Bud" with the brakeman. After wandering in the dark forests, he finally landed at Clemson College. Thenceforth he has been "one of the boys." How he succeeded in deceiving the Colonel into believing that he was conscientious, we have never been able to determine.

Although small in size, "RASTUS" has a large capacity. Test-tubes, atoms, molecules, acids, and chemical equations all sit up and take notice when he is around. RASTUS is not a straight chemist, however, being a great worker for agriculture. He takes especial interest in the organization of Boys' Corn Clubs, and Girl Tomato Clubs—the latter particularly. Unless he changes his mind, we may expect to find this dashing youth gaily pulling the agricultural bellcord, or perhaps drowsily settled on the Pee Dee Experiment Station.

Can you imagine a conglomeration of "Canny Scot" and "Charleston Bottry" in one small specimen of the genus homo? Then you have a life picture of "MAC." He must be terrible, you say? Why no, he's not more than half bad, except inasmuch as he is most military of the military, wittiest of the witty, wisest of the wise, etc. But laying all jokes aside, our appreciation of "MAC" is shown by the fact that he received the unanimous endorsement of his classmates as being best qualified to edit the "TAPS of 1914."

Stand aside, fellows; here comes strongarm "MIKE." When he looks mean, we stand in awe of him; but when he is sobered, he will answer to the name of "MARY." MARY has gained many friends in college by his kindness and generosity. He is also admired by the girls. His love for high art, and his fund of common sense, will no doubt make him a first-class Electrical Engineer. His chief object in early life is matrimony.

Another "product" of Columbia. "BILL" arrived at Clemson September 10, 1911, and the fun began immediately. His ready wit caused much laughter, and BILL—er—some pain. WILLIAM's chief delight is to imitate Caruso, in a rendition of some of Berlin's rapsodies. "BILL" started in as a "Sophomore Rat," under the great handicap of a year's back work; but his able youth overcame his handicap, and graduated with colors flying. We think "BILL" will soon be recognized as South Carolina's leading electrical contractor.

In the Fall of '09, a happy-go-lucky-looking fellow, hands in pockets, and a broad grin on his face, came sailing in from the "Bottry." Instinctively we realized

"MAJOR," or "ALPHABET," is one of the fair products of Foreston. He began his career at Clemson with the Class of '13; but after considering the probable unluckiness of such a numeral he graduated into Class of '14. "ALPHABET" has had military aspirations a-plenty, but the losing of that beloved captain carried all hope of future glory with it. But "MAJOR" had his fling, and goes down as among those whom gods destroyed. SUMMERVILLE, S. C.

Corporal; Quartermaster-Sergeant; Captain and Quartermaster.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; A. I. E. E.; Class Football '11, '12, '13; Scrub Football '11, '12; Tiger Reporter '11; Business Manager Tiger '14; Junior Electrical Science Club; President Sophomore Dancing Club; Junior and Senior Dancing Clubs; Round Dozen; Picked Company '12, '14; Ring Committee; German Club.

"BUDDY" originated in Summerville, but has existed a great part of his life in Charleston. This lad is a compound of energy, common sense, and hot air. In athletics, although light, he did a man's work. In the classroom, and upon the Tiger, we find proof of his book and common sense. On trips, in Literary Societies, and during his every awake moment, a blind man could detect his principal talent, "Bull." "BUDDY" is a good companion, a hard lover, and a game loser.

"He can be wooed and won, ladies, by cooing at him"

D'ARCY DAVID TINSLEY
WHITE STONE, S. C.

Sergeant; Second Lieutenant; First Lieutenant.

ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL; Bible
Society; Columbian Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.

At a special session, the City Council of White Stone finally decided to send D'ARCY to Clemson. His flying stunts in the gym soon won for him the title of "DAREDEVIL." By his art of candy making, and his genial disposition, he has won many friends. Regardless of his aversion for reveille, a military life has appealed strongly to him. If "DAREDEVIL" does not get out, and go to the Phillipines, we predict for him a successful career as an Electrical Engineer.

Corporal; Sergeant; Lieutenant.

ENTOMOLOGY; Agricultural Society; Rifle
Club; Abbeville County Club; Y. M. C. A.; Bible Class Leader; Student Press Association.

In perfect, spotless, faultless, unblemished Due West, did "JIMMIE" discover the world. With the rest of us, he entered Clemson in 1910. Although with the Electricals the first year, he changed in his second to become trained in the science of insects. JIM treats everyone fairly, has no enemies, always attends roll calls, and stands well with his teachers; especially those of Math. and Chemistry. We predict for him many friends, and success in the future.

ARCH BASCOM USHER
GIBSON, N. C.

Sergeant; Senior Private.

AGRONOMY; Agricultural Society; Palmetto Literary Society; Y. M. C. A.

"PRUSSIA" hails from the moonshine district of the Carolinas. His favorite beverage before coming to Clemson was cornjuice, but now he longs only for the ancient "worm." When this fair lad reached Clemson, he was rather shy, and the boys had a time taming him. Now, he even attempts to write love epistles. "PRUSSIA's" pet ambition is to manage a great ranch in Mexico.

Record for Half-mile '11, Assistant Manager Track Team '13; Captain Track Team '14; Varsity Basket-ball '12, '13; Block Club; Agricultural Society; "Firm."

"AUDLEY" entered Clemson with the Prep. Class '10. From that time on, he has steadily advanced in his class work and in college life; and be it that none of his honors have in any way made him less good pal. "AUDLEY" is one of the best examples of stick-to-it-iveness of which the Class boasts. He does not get the matrimonial bee in his bonnet, he is one of the leading bachelor farmers of the State.

"QUEEN" entered college greatly handicapped, bringing with him a reputation for great depth and dignity. He soon lived this down, however, and now stands in his true light. Judging from his soulful eyes, he is a poet; and doubtless this would be the case, if, in his sophomore year, he had not suffered a severe attack of "Dickybetia," from which he has never fully recovered. His near wit and antiquated jokes have won him many friends. We are expecting him to do something unusual in the long.

"BEATTIE," who claims Hickory Grove as his briar patch, joined the present '14 Class as a Sophomore. BEATTIE is a hard-working young man, and is identified with a great many phases of College activity. He is a forceful speaker, and an accomplished musician; also, he is very fond of "bull-juice" (gravy) and "taters." We predict for him a successful career as a prominent farm manager.

SALUDA, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Second Lieutenant.

AGRONOMY; Member of Agricultural Society; Saluda County Club; Carlisle Bible Class.

"BLOSSOM," as he is best known to his friends, hails from the wild and romantic hills of Saluda. If he had taken an engineering course, he would have built a railroad through Saluda; but agriculture has changed his path in life, and he will probably become an expert soil analyst. Like Shakespeare, "BLOSSOM" is especially attached to the scenery around his native town. Saluda possesses other attractions for him, chief of which is the fair sex.

JOSEPH THEODORE WITHERSPOON
MAYESVILLE, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Senior Private.

ANIMAL INDUSTRY; Y. M. C. A.; Section Marcher.

Mayesville will always remember December 1, 1892; for unto it, that day, was born JOSEPH THEODORE WITHERSPOON. He is a worthy scion of a noted tree "SPOON" first donned the uniform in 1909; but, being superstitious, he waited until '14 to graduate. His greatest ambition is to crack two jokes at the same time. He bids fair to become the editor of "Life," "Judge" or "Puck"; if he does not, he will become noted as a livestock breeder.

"Brevity is the soul of wit"

WILLIAM D WOOD
GREER, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant; Lieutenant.

AGRONOMY; Agricultural Society; Agronomy Club; "Firm."

You may call him "BILLIE," "MOUSE," or the combination, and it is all the same. "MOUSE BILLIE" hails from Greer, S. C., and that city is indeed fortunate in having such a remarkable individual to represent her. "MOUSE's" highest ambition is to be a farmer, and to play a football eleven for the sole purpose of beating Georgia Tech. The Class of '14 wish him godspeed.

Don't worry about your work; do what you can, let the rest go, and smile all the time"

JAMES THERAN WOODWARD
AIKEN, S. C.

Corporal; Sergeant-Major; Lieutenant; Captain.

AGRICULTURE AND CHEMISTRY; Sophomore, Junior, Senior Dancing Clubs; Agricultural Society; Chemistry Club '13, '14; Tiger Staff '14; German Club.

Four years have passed, and many great chemical works appear. THERAN entered his great career in 1910. Since then he has had many troubles; sporting, boning, loving, appendicitis, and graduation; but he has not stopped yet. The Hutsons were not crossed, hence his military career. He claims that unless all the atmosphere is consumed in the making, his hot air process of nitrogen extraction will be a boon to the farmers. He is a hard worker, and is sure to gain success.

"Beware the Suffragette!
I fear her apron strings—and rolling-pin"

Senior Class Poem

YEAR after year has taken flight
 Till now they number four,
 Since through Clemson's open door
 We passed. A new, a strange delight
 Did thrill us then, and make us fight
 For something on before.

But trials have come, as come they will,
 And thin our ranks have grown.
 Each year from us were torn
 Dear classmates one by one; but still
 We rally 'round, and with a thrill
 Yet find we are our own.

Dear classmates, through life's shifting ways,
 Remember Clemson still,
 Her every dale and hill.
 May our happy college days
 Be a gentle memory whose rays
 Will light and cheer at will.

The future bids us rise and go;
 We cannot linger here,
 Though it be very dear.
 On to the fight, nor dread the throe,
 But ever through experience grow
 To gain life's noble sphere.

Junior Class History

IN THE FALL of Nineteen Hundred and Eleven, four hundred hopeful but trembling lads were unloaded as prospective sheepskin-holders for 1915.

As we must expect in the battle of life, ours was not a rose-strewn path, and many fell by the roadside ere we reached our second year. But the ability and perseverance that has characterized our Class has enabled us to reach our Junior year with the largest enrollment of any Junior Class in the history of the College.

It is not only in quantity, but in quality as well, that our members have proved themselves superior. There is one of us who towers above all (we call him "MUTT"). There are many whom we expect to see in later years occupying prominent places—perhaps in dime museums. From present indications, we expect to find at least two military geniuses among us. Many may be noted riders, if we judge by youthful training. Indeed, it has been said of us, "There never was another class like the Class of 1915." Some have made the mistake of taking this as a doubtful compliment; there is no doubt as to its real meaning.

To be serious again, we find our Class well represented in every line of college work. We have men whom we expect to be prominent in the development of our State, in the conservation of her resources, and in the cause of humanity. May it be the resolution of every one of us, to become a man in the noblest sense of the word; to ever cherish in his heart the memory of his Class; and never to do a thing that would reflect aught but honor upon his school.

History of the Class of 1916

ON Wednesday, September 11, 1912, we began our College career as the Class of '16. We then numbered two hundred and ninety "Rats," and were as "green" as you could well imagine. We have truly lived to learn. After wandering, we have obeyed, worked, and learned, until now as Sophomores we stalk as proudly as we dare. And well may we be proud; for on the athletic field, in the classroom, and in the various other phases of College life, we have set standards that our successors will do well to follow.

While greater responsibilities and probably harder duties await us in the future, with these we naturally expect to come increasing pleasures and perhaps honors. We have built an enviable reputation, and now we are determined to preserve it.

If it were not for being Juniors, we should willingly live over a year so full of work and pleasure as this. May each of us do his part in keeping the history of the Class bright for another two years, and may we make a record that will stimulate the best efforts of succeeding classes.

FOOT-BALL

A Sketch of the 1913 Football Season

WE cannot say that football at Clemson in 1913 was a great success; for the acid test of the Tigers' greatness now calls for the winning of the game from Tech on Thanksgiving. The sad reversal of affairs on that eventful day, turned-turtle our aspirations for high rank in the S. I. A. A. However, the season was very successful when viewed from the angle of future football; for we firmly believe that in the 1913 team lies the nucleus of a championship team within the next two or three years. Let us see if we are justified in making such a statement.

Back in September of this session, Clemson secured the services of a valuable coach, one who had coached successful Clemson teams of old. "Bob" Williams, with "Rip" Major as assistant, formed as good a staff of coaches as could be boasted by any Southern college. When they beheld the somewhat crude material that had maintained Clemson's mediocre standard of the past several years, the outlook must have seemed dark and uncertain. But they took to the task with such zeal and determination as has but few times been displayed on Bowman Field.

The veterans and recruits proved willing workers, and were soon going through such grilling work as they had never before experienced. But every man put forward his best efforts, and the results were good.

We defeated Davidson on the campus early in October, the score being 6 to 3. This game revealed many of our weak points, which were gradually strengthened.

The following Saturday, we met the strong University of Alabama team at Tuscaloosa. We held them to one touchdown through the greater part of the game, and came very near scoring twice. The journey down had been long and wearisome, and as a result we weakened in the final period, allowing them to score two touchdowns, the final score being 20 to 0.

Then followed the great game on the campus with Auburn, the big, powerful machine which won the S. I. A. A. Championship. Although outweighed twenty pounds to the man, we held the "champs" to a 20 to 0 score, playing them to a stand-still, and forcing them to punt time and again.

When the State Fair came off, the Tiger team was working like a smooth-running automaton. The big game with the University took place on Thursday of Fair Week. It was one grand, glorious Tiger victory, from the initial kick-off to the final whistle. Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in South Carolina, we triumphed 32 to 0. The much-boasted Carolina team was outclassed in every aspect of the game, and not once did they stand the slightest chance of scoring.

The following week was a strenuous one indeed for the Tigers. On Thursday following the Fair, we met the strong University team, in Augusta, headed by the intrepid McWhorter. This game was the surprise of the season in Southern football. It had been freely predicted that Georgia would win by a good-sized score. When the third quarter ended, we possessed the larger end of a 15 to 6 score. Georgia simply could not penetrate our defense. In the final quarter, they resorted to puzzling open formations, and made two touchdowns on forward passes in the last few minutes of the game, winning by a close score of 18 to 15.

Two days later, in Charleston, the tired, battered team met the Citadel, and won in a fierce, closely-contested game, the score being 7 to 3.

About ten days later, we met Mercer University, at Macon, and easily trounced them, in a loosely-played game, to the score of 52 to 0.

Clemson's hopes for a victory over Tech rose to a high-water mark. Everyone predicted that our ancient foe would surely go down in defeat on Thanksgiving Day. When the game came off, on Grant Field, in Atlanta, thousands of loyal supporters filled the stands. Such a reversal of form as our team displayed in that game is probably without a parallel in Clemson's football history. It seemed that we were groggy, and could not get started; and we suffered fumbling galore. The goddess of fortune simply would not look our way at all, and everything seemed to go wrong. The result was an overwhelming defeat of 32 to 0.

But we have great faith in Coach "Bob," and we firmly believe that the Tiger team of 1914 will bring back to Clemson the lost laurels of so many disastrous and unfortunate gridiron battles in the great city.

BASEBALL

The 1913 Baseball Season

THIS season was the most successful that Clemson has enjoyed in a number of years. All of the would-be-champions of the State were met and overcome—Clemson's percentage in South Carolina being ONE THOUSAND.

Not only were we successful in the State, but by breaking even with Georgia, and taking two out of three from Auburn, we caused such a muddle over the Southern Championship that no contender felt able to claim the pennant, Clemson's claim being as strong as that of any college or university in the South.

Most of the credit for this success goes to Coach Dobson. At the first of the season, our prospects were anything but bright; but by instilling his own spirit into the squad, and by hard, consistent effort, he finally rounded out a strong working machine.

The brunt of the pitching work fell on "Doc" Ezell and Anderson. These youngsters pitched the entire series of twenty games, without once needing relief, Ezell winding up the season with first place on "All-Southern." The work of Browne and Dean, battery mates of these two pitchers, was good throughout the season.

To the infield goes the credit of holding up the hitting average. Cureton, at short, hit for a grand total of .395; Hutto, at second, came next with .364; while Webb, at first, hit for .288, his extra-base hitting being a feature. This trio, with Coles at third, not only hit well, but formed one of the fastest and surest infields of which Clemson has ever boasted.

Due credit must be given the outfield for their neat work in handling flies and long hits. The regular outfield, composed of Walker, Hiers, and Tarrant, hit for an average of .264.

Seal, Parker, and Iler, served in the utility role to good effect.

The team's batting average was .260, and the fielding average .920.

Tennis, 1914

CLEMSON has loomed into prominence in the past few years in tennis, having to her credit two Southern Championships, and the same in State honors. At the Southern Intercollegiate Tournament, at Columbia, last Spring, Clemson made a clean sweep, capturing all trophy cups, and all first prizes, numbering three. The Erwin brothers claimed the doubles, by defeating Oates and Chambers, of the University of North Carolina, in first round, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4. "Big Sook" took the singles from Oates, in the first round, by a similar score.

In the State Tournament this year, Clemson reached semi-final rounds in doubles and singles. To the surprise of almost all, Warring defeated Erwin, after the latter had won the first set, thus taking revenge on him for a defeat in the Southern meet last Spring.

THE 1913 CAROLINA GAME

It was during Fair Week of 1912 that the intrepid "Tiger" sallied forth and met with humiliating defeat at the hands of his ancient and formidable rival, the "Gamecock." Well do we remember how the dauntless old Bengal battled to the bitter end, and its agony as it crept away with its proud old head bent low in defeat—broken in body and spirit. Back to his native haunts in the wilds of Oconee he wandered, there to brood over the loss of his laurels—the accumulation of years of triumphant victory.

With his slow recovery, however, came again the old dogged determination that had carried him on the crest of victory so many times in the past. Through the long year, the inconsolable beast brooded and dreamed of the coming fray, when he would wreak vengeance on the hated Gamecock. Then, as the fall of 1913 rolled around, he sensed the tang of autumn, and his fighting blood surged within his body, and called for action.

In September, a new trainer stepped into the arena and began to whip the Tiger into shape. When the week before the fight came, the beast was in perfect physical condition. His old wound had healed, and the bone and sinew of our rejuvenated automaton was as tough and hard as chilled steel. Yet, he was as agile as a cat; cautious and wary on defense; and quick and sure in action. And exultant, indeed, was the beast when his Coach led him into Columbia, the home of his ancient enemy.

And then the fight comes on. The Tiger, with the cold glint of sullen determination in his eye, enters the arena, and skulks around, eager for the fray. The Gamecock, a proud, strutting bird, almost as large as his rival, stalks on the field, anxious to swell his vaunted pride with another victory.

The field is cleared amid the cheering of the thousands, the playing of bands, and the waving of flags. Then, behold! The Tiger crouches and springs at his antagonist. The Gamecock maintains his poise and strikes; they clash! Ye gods! Has the Tiger gone mad? The fierce onslaught of the beast sweeps the bird back in utter rout and confusion. The noise of combat is drowned in the mad cheering of the Tiger supporters. But the Tiger is too eager, and presently finds himself on the defensive. The persistent bird succeeds in effecting a spurt,

IMPORTANT MEETING OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Matters of Grave Importance Discussed

Mess Hall Notice: "There will be an important meeting of the Senior Class, in Chapel, immediately after dinner today.

Time: Friday, the thirteenth.

Place: Chapel.

Scene: Same.

President arises, and addresses the Class as follows: "Men of the honorable old"—("Shovel!" "Tell it straight!" "Tie the little bull outside!")

"Let's have order in the Class, please."

"Men of the honorable old Class of 1914, we have come together today to consider some gross injustices that have been handed out to us from time to time in the past few weeks. We, men, are the rulers in this institution" ("Like a fish!" "Tell it to Kelly!") "We are the guiding spirits, the men that do things around here; and we have been treated like underlings ever since we were Freshmen, and some of us before that time. We do not propose to be trampled on any more. This Class has labored and toiled for many years, and now that we are on the top, some certain ones are trying to put us under again. We, the high and mighty Seniors, have to come into the Mess Hall, and march slam by the ends of the tables piled high with mountains of tempting light-bread, and lakes of epicurean 'Bull-juice' (gravy), and beat it on down to the wall-end, where there ain't no light-bread, and not much of anything else. This is thing number one.

"These little Preppy assistants around this joint want us to salute them, and, by crickety, it gives me a three-cornered pain to even think of it. Us! The Seniors! pulling a stunt of that kind? Fat chance!" (Cries of "Now you're talking!" "Tell it to us!")

"Men of the Class, no longer will we kowtow to the High Muck-a-Mucks. We will plan a well-organized campaign against all that are in authority, have them removed, and set up a Chief Cook and Bottle Washer of our own. We will revolutionize the world! We'll blow up the powder magazine, and push over the Standpipe! In fact, we'll show 'em that we're mad. We will raze silos to the ground! We will sell out the registered cattle! We'll have no more of Steinmetz, nor any like him. We will drink our coffee with loud laps, and never worry! We will even carry soup sandwiches out of the Mess Hall, if we so desire; and in our hip pockets, if we will it." (At this point, amid loud applause and vociferous yells, there came gallivanting through the door, Ephraim, Ed Hunter, and the Standpipe, in behalf of law, order, and civilization. Not deeming it wise to carry on the meeting in the presence of such rank outsiders, the deliberations were postponed until a less worse time.)

MY HOSIERY

The hours I spent with them and patched,
Seems like a waste of time to me;
I look them o'er—catch one mismatched—

My hosiery—my hosiery!

Each sock in holes—each hole a snare
To catch the toe in hurry slipped;
I scan each sock unto the end—
And there I find 'em ripped!
Oh silken hose that fray and tear!
Oh bitter loss, and barren past!
I buy "holeproofs," and strive—alas, I swear

That none will last—dad-gum!

That none will last.

TRUE SPIRIT

It's easy enough to root for the team
When the play goes on like a song;
But the Corps worth while,
Is the Corps that can smile,
And yell when the play goes wrong.

"George Washington," read the small boy from his history, "was born February 22, 1732 A. D."

"What does A. D. stand for?" inquired the teacher.

The small boy pondered. "I don't exactly know," he hesitated; "After dark, I guess."

THE 1913 CAROLINA GAME

getting in a few well-directed blows. The denizens of the bird-kingdom drown out the savage growls of the beast with their cheering. And now the Tiger grows savage indeed, following each fierce onslaught with another more terrific. The Tiger supporters go wild with joy, and send deafening cheers over the field. The Gamecock never again has the ghost of a chance. The Tiger with relentless fury hammers at the Gamecock, until blood is drawn repeatedly. The bird grows sluggish, and the wary beast takes advantage of every weakness. It is only a matter of time before the hard-pressed bird must fall in the gore and dust of the battle-scarred gridiron. The thousands in the stands are crying for more blood, but the Tiger is cautious, and is heedless of all save the blood-strewn mass of plumage which weakly confronts him. The Gamecock's efforts become so enfeebled as to grow pitiable. The Tiger, sure of his prey, teases and toys with the lacerated bird. Then, through the filmy haze of the gridiron, the spectators see the end. One giant sweep of that mighty paw brings a wail—long, piercing, pitiful, heart-rending, full of agony—the dying cry of the stricken Gamecock, and for one brief moment the dumb-stricken crowds watch in breathless awe. The Tiger, dripping with the blood of his adversary, leaves the field as unassumingly as he had entered it; the Gamecock, a tumbling, torn, and bleeding mass, lies where the final savage blow was dealt.

The ending of the game was followed by a strained and hushed silence, a fit tribute of admiration and respect for the noble manner in which the Gamecock fought, and the exalted way in which he died.

And then pandemonium broke loose. The Tiger supporters, exultant with joy over the avenging victory, in one glorious, triumphant march follow the path of the victorious Tiger.

THE DEBUTANTES

I kissed the cow and calf good-bye;
I wiped the teardrops from my eye,
As I packed the piece of pumpkin-pie
That was built for me by Mother,
And hiked to Clemson's vale of tears.
Now why was I met with grins and cheers,
By the Sophomore Ags and Engineers,
And the cry, "Here comes another?"

I knew that my pants were pressed aright,
Though they topped my shoes; and my coat was tight,
And my hair stuck through my bonnet.
But watch my smoke four years from now,
When I get my "Dip," and make my bow
To the big "B. S." upon it.

(By order) Colonel Cummins

JOKES, NEAR WIT, AND HUMOR

A steam-roller rolled on a stray canine
And flattened him east and west.
He hadn't a chance to utter a whine,
But his pants, no doubt, were pressed.

Grace—I told him he must not see me any more.

Brother—What did he do?

Grace—Turned out the light.

Teacher—What is velocity?

Student—When a boy sticks his hand on a wasp.

JOKES AND SMART SAYINGS

O. Y. A. Student—Just give me one kiss, and be the first and only one I've ever kissed.

Girl—What do you take me for, an experiment station?

Professor Shields—So your Y. M. C. A. Secretary has an auto. I hope he has better luck than some others.

Cadet Dantzler—He has already run into a ditch with a lady.

Witherspoon—Some excuse for that, though he should have kept both hands on the steering-wheel.

Heard at Columbia

"Izzy; oh, Izzy; come here at once!"

"Fo what, Ikey?"

"To help me take in the showcase mit der hatpins in it."

"Fo why do you do that?"

"Ach! here comes the Clemson Football Team, and they take every point they an lay their hands on."

Dave—You look very tired this morning.

"Red" B.—Yes, I went to the mutes' ball last night, and swung dumb belles around all evening.

The cooing stops with the honeymoon; but the billing goes on forever.

Dr. Calhoun—Mr Parker, does the moon affect the tide?"

Parker—No, sir; only the untied.

Professor—Give us an example of an imaginary spheroid.

Student—A rooster's egg.

Professor C.—Here's a good example of petrified wood (referring to object in left hand, but absent-mindedly tapping nearest student on the head).

What got Tippler behind the bars? Standing too long in front of them.

Our line of Pincher and Hert footwear is warranted to make small feet look capable, and large understandings of an apparently reasonable size. We can give you anything in ox-carts and high-tops, from gunboats to peanut shells. Our latest English heel is fashion's last resort. See Harker, 300 Fourteenth Street, and Paddon, 120 Fifth Avenue.

WANT ADS

WANTED—Students in the art of midnight aviation. Have had actual experience, and can give reference. Apply, after "Taps," to G. E. Berley, 44 Third Avenue.

WANTED—Some method of gathering and putting to practical use the quantities of hot air that frequently pervade Memorial Hall. A chance for the young inventor. For particulars apply to B. S. Rheegs, Artisan, Main Building.

WANTED—A substitute for light after "Taps." Must be dark and undetectable, but efficient as a source of light. Any reasonable proposition welcomed. Address Editor Taps, Chief Sufferer, 218 Eleventh Avenue.

WANTED—A typewriter, or other mechanical device, that will spell correctly, as well as cross "r's" and dot "i's." Must be automatic and sure. Address Gandy Pelzer, 144 Sixth Avenue.

WANTED—Two young battleships, well put together, that will do service for shoes. The shoe companies have stopped making reasonable sized shoes. See "Jabo," 174 Ninth Avenue.

WANTED—A position as chief prevaricator of a well-organized "Ananias Club." Am amply qualified. For references, address W. R. Hice.

Clippings from our Future Contemporaries

THE completion of the Tower of Babel is now in progress. A company has been formed at a capitalization of several million dollars, with the registered name of Pearlstine and Rosenbaum. The great fear of the engineers is that their tongues will become confused. Already, Mr. Rosenbaum is beginning to lisp.—New York Age-Herald.

DABBO! Run 'em.
 "Run 'em from where? Run 'em to where?"
 "Run 'em from Calhoun on Sunday, where they go to get themselves a little bite to eat.

"Run 'em to Keowee, thence to the Ravenel Bridge, and to Cherry's Bridge from there. Still no crossing? Then run 'em to Laurence's Bridge, about seven miles up the creek, and cause them to be absent from Retreat, so we can catch them."

They got 'em.

SENTINEL, walking No. 15, inspecting room at the lower back corner—Blam, Blam, Blam! Open up. If you don't, I will call the Corporal.

VOICE (inside)—Call the Corporal, then; he's my pal.

JIMMY JAMES—Captain, you remember in that Citadel game two years ago, when we were—Why, I thought Captain was here!"

Cadet V. T. Anderson, while abroad, ran across the word "Yabbo" in Italy. The real meaning of the word is "Exceedingly big and gawky of frame, yet childishly weak and simple of mind."

"Seniors will, after this, please sit on the seats next to the wall in the mess hall."

"What's the idea?"

"Why to show them that we are boss, of course."

Later—February 14.

"By Jove, I can't handle that gang. They're too much for me."

"Ducks on that stub, Captain."

"All right; but you had better be careful that you don't get stubbed on that duck."

“Exodus, '13”

(A Scriptural Account of the 1913 Fair Trip)

NOW, as had been the custom handed down by the gray-bearded old fogies who legislate around and upon these diggings, there was heard the order, in the second month of the opening of the great school, that there would go down to the Square Meal City¹, during the six days of the Great Fair, the Seven Hundred who have their abode in the three brick barracks.

And immediately they were cognizant² of the jaunt ahead of them, every mother's son of them wrote home to the bonded millionaire whose filthy lucre they had been sent away to squander; and they demanded more. Some of them, having not the wit promised the lowly louse, were bold, and told the gov'nor the coin was for a good time and a spree; wherefore, they received but little. Others, who were keen, needed more of books, and bath-tickets, and Y. M. C. A. dues; and thus they received in abundance the iron-bucks, which later they blew in with great success.

Also, the time being early, and many of them without their glad soldier rags, their garbs were made to hasten, so that they hung loosely about the frames they covered, as do the flapping garments of the plump and lively scarecrow.

And finally, all things were arranged, even to the getting of haircuts, and the wrapping of blankets. And to the chosen servants of the Come-and-Dance³, there were loaned the insignia⁴ of his favor; and he called them Ossifers⁵; and they feared him, for they knew not if the favor was theirs to last.

Then, on the twenty and seventh day of the tenth month of the year of which we speak, there arose with the dawn shouts and a great bustle. And, having fed, the blanket-rolled hundreds snagged onto their arms, and, falling into step, marched off with a great tramp, tramp. And behind them there was silence; for there was much glumness among the five score and ten who went not.

Now there was waiting at the stopping place of the great Southern, a line of cars; and it was divided. And to each was an engine, that the cars, which are called a train, might not stand still, but might have slow and everlasting movement.

1—Square Meal Town: A spurious claim made by Columbia, S. C.

2—Cognizant: A good word, and easy; see Standard Dictionary under C.

3—Come-and-Dance: Officer in command; see Commandant.

4—Insignia: Chevrons and epaulets; see stripes and shoulder bars.

5—Ossifers: Corrupt for Officers.

And into these cars they were piled; three hundred in the one half, and the remaining (which were a million) in the other. And they in each car were called a Company, as was lettered on cloth of purple and gold which fluttered without, and showed those who knew not that which was within. And before the nose of each great engine rested the Tiger, ensign of the travelers; and though it roared not, it had appearance and desire, for above it there was an "Eat 'Em Up"; which later they did.

And after a journey of half a day, they arrived, and took up their abode in a tented city, which was brown, and laid off as to streets. And it was one almighty peach of a place to stay in! For it was cold, and there were neither radiators by day, nor hot water bottles by night, nor warm bricks, nor anything that had aught but an abundant lack of heat.

And on the afternoon of the second day of their stay, there occurred a battle which was called a Sham; for it was not. And the soldiers of the State were made as drums; for they beat it!

And at the same time of the third day there occurred a marching to music, and the loud exercise of voice, and the extra dress and bearing of the Napoleons, and Roosevelts, and Huertas. And it was called a Parade of Dress; for they were clothed.

And between times there was no gathering into companies, but each was allowed to do as he would; and many were done, for they were strangers amid the crafty, and were easy prey.

Then upon the fourth day, in the morning thereof, there occurred the Great Game. And the Tigers, who had hungered, avenged themselves, as had been prophesied. And the conquered Gamecocks lost their vaunted pride, and were meek. And that night in the city there was held a great gathering of the warriors, and there was noise in abundance, and jubilee. But they of Carolina were silent, and crowed not; for they had the "pip."

And the day following was like unto the third day.

And then upon the morning of the sixth day, there came the breaking up of the camp. And the warriors, weary as to spirit, left not as they had come; for they were broke.

—MCDONALD

Letter of a Japanese Schoolboy

DEAR HON. EDITOR:—Please allow liberty in your TAPS book to print a observe on a feature of your soldier lives, which are outglaring. That feature are your excelsior detective system. It are with large pleasure I remark on the performs of Hon. Slone and Hon. Dukat in the fatigue art of sleuthing.

One day, I observe big quantity of boys slip softlike on trail to river. Hon. detectives smell trouble. It appear to they that boys like rampage and bad achievement, so Hon. detectives follow behindward at considerable remoteness.

Now this detective force are good force, as proceeding show, but Hon. Slone are a trifle small, and exhaust too much quantity cigarets and dopes, and are not exaggerated in scruples. Hon. Dukat are too big, and have too much clumsy movement. He have too much noise about mouth region.

But I must enlighten you concerning boys. Boys cross river on railroad structure, to large joy of Hon. detectives. Now they sit and snuggest way for capture of rampagers. Hon. Slone draft diagram. When he conclude this, he hurl intoxicating tobacco from mouth, then use robust Sunday school word, and proclaim that boys will be caught like trap catch rats. Hon. Dukat labor beneath terrible mental strain. He are unable to see through plan, and remark to Hon. Slone that plan are too intricate to penetrate. Hon. Slone appear mad-like. He hurl tobacco wad from mouth, and attempt to explain plan to Hon. Dukat.

Hon. Slone snuggest for Hon. Dukat to journey down river to Ravenel Bridge, and act like sentinel, to interrupt passage of boys on return backward. He (Hon. Slone) must remain at post, where most strategy are sore in need. It look gloom-like for boys. It are winter time, and too cold for swim. Boys must have supper, yet they have disrelish for confinement and extra stuff they are serve so much.

Now, after some big amount of time elapse, Hon. Slone proceed to think concerning Brown's Mule. At about similar time, Hon. Dukat, since he are very young and unsophisticated-like, commence thinking about sweet young girl back home, and he grow without care concerning duty and all else.

Boys observe this circumstance with glad and rejoice look. Now there chance are come. With quick action, they launch boat afloat stream, and attain other bank in jiffy time. Boys then advance backward to college very quiet-like, and masticate supper.

Hon. Slone and Hon. Dukat do sentinel stunt till big moon peep up and climb in sky to considerable altitude. It are very cold, and they shiver to large extent. Hon. Slone now have violent rage because boys appear such protracted loiterers. He give up, and journey to Hon. Dukat, and suggest a withdraw.

Boys are been sleep long time when Hon. detectives commence returning back. They trudge with inert feet, and wear downcast-like feature. The hoot! hoot! of scary American screech-owl and mournful dog howl are all the outcry that penetrate the night.

Yours truly

The Ten Commandments

THEN Josiah spake all these words, saying:

I am Josiah, thy commandant, who hath made thee to serve confinements in the Chapel, to walk extras on weekdays, and who hath removed thee from the bliss of Stokesdom, raising thee to the condition of United States Regulars.

Thou shalt have no other boss before me; even the Captain of thy Company shalt bow down before me.

Thou shalt not use the "Rules and Regulations" as thy authority for correctness; but what I say, that will be thy law.

Thou shalt not yell "Yabbo" at me, nor at mine assistant, nor at my underlings; for I will surely find a way to have him shipped who breaketh this commandment. Selah!

Remember the Sabbath day to go to church; for if thou faileth, many confinements or extras will be thy reward.

From Sunday to Friday shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but on the seventh day of the week, thou shalt prepare for Inspection, walk extras, and serve confinements.

Thou shalt honor and obey everyone at this place, yea even Edward Hunter; for if thou faileth to carry out this commandment to the letter, thou shalt be shipped from this place to which thy father has sent thee.

Whenever thou cometh into my presence, thou shalt stand erect, and smite thy forehead with thy forefinger, as a token of respect that is due the All-Powerful.

When I visit thee at night, thou shalt interrupt thy work, rise to thy feet, and uncover thy head in reverence of me.

Thou shalt not get over fifty demerits in one term; for that one who getteth more shalt be cast into the Annex, where there is weeping and wailing and smashing out teeth.

Thou shalt not covet thy superior's office, for if thy honey-funketh, in due time it wilt be given to thee.

* * * * *

And when all the cadets had heard these words, they fell down upon their faces, rent their garments, and poured ashes upon the crowns of their heads.

CALHOUN SCENES

At Fort Hill

THE HOME OF JOHN C. CALHOUN

EARTH'S common things around us lie.
 We feel them not; nor see, nor hear.
 Woods, hills, and streams, however fair,
 Will with the seasons fail the eye,
 And man with each revolving year
 Will change and pass unnoticed by.

But tread on old historic ground,
 The hills which Calhoun traveled o'er.
 There is a thrill unfelt before—
 A reverent awe falls slowly down
 And bears us back to days of yore,
 To him, whom glory gathers 'round.

He held them dear, each dale and hill;
 And dear the rambling river's roar.
 In life's fierce heat, when vexed and sore,
 His spirit yearned for rest, but willed
 It not, 'til work for a space was o'er
 Then he homeward turned undaunted still.

Then sacred be from day to day
 These scenes that mark his home in part.
 Time with his ceaseless stroke may start
 Upon his house a vile decay;
 But enthroned he is in every heart,
 And with a nation lives for aye!

—W. J. H., '15

In Memoriam

On Hazing

A TIRADE BY AN OLD TIMER

SAD are the times, and cursed are the days;
For the impudent Freshmen just dare us to haze.

Gone are the men who were tough to withstand
The worst we could give with the first thing at hand;

And into their places are childish young whelps
Who cringe at the paddle, and call with their yelps

On the powers above to defend their weak frames
From our brutal assaults; and hand in our names,

That those whom by instinct we naturally hate
Might thus get a chance to retaliate,

And soak us by law for the things we had done,
Which were really a privilege and right, handed down

To us who have suffered, by those gone before.
And now we're being cheated from squaring the score.

Why did you kick when the bayonet fell,
And give the impression you were treated like ——? Well,

Couldn't you see, you babies in pants,
If you took it this year, that next, your own chance

Would come and forever permit you to say,
"I've taken my dose, and by right can repay,

With interest, my stripes and whippings galore;
For I've thus earned the right to even the score?"

Now, like the fool whose headworks were loose,
You've broken the egg, and murdered the goose.

And though you prance 'round in your silly Rat days,
And grin at your uppers, when you know they can't haze,

You'll regret it next year, when a hundred or more
Grin in your face, and you can't even the score.

—F. H. M.

History of "Preps" Class of 1909-1910

ALASSMATES, at last we are Seniors, after four years of hard labor in prison walls. Through thick and thin—mostly thin—we have stood the ravages of time and the Faculty. Out of the sixty-five men who entered Prep. in the Fall of '09, sixty have fallen by the wayside, and a quintet only is left to tell the tales of the "King's" roar and of the pleasant smiles of the "Queen."

As we go from these walls of learning with our "sheepskins," we say good-bye to Prep., for

"The voice that once through 'Prepdom's' walls
The sound of terror spread,
Will sound as loud on higher walls;
For soon will Prep. be dead."

Caught in the Mail

Clemson, Sunday Evening.

Light of My Life,

The days without thee, who art more than life to me, are becoming long and burdensome. To live thru each dragging moment is the torture of an age wherein is the lousome loss-ness of a man's last nickel. Thine eyes, which outglow the radiance of the nightly fire-fly, haunt me like the shadowy remembrance of a hot "weeny-wurst" haunts the broke and hungry disciple of the cross-ties. I long for their cool depths as I do for the limpid waters of my early swimming mud-hole, and dream of the time when I again can be lost in their brightness, to which the light even of firewater is as darkness. Each ropelike strand of thy mass of hempen glory I see in fancy's eye, and pray that I may see thee ere it changes with the fashion.

Let me beg of thee, dear one, to have a heart, and quickly to come to me. I know thy pleasures are many, and thy suitors numberless, but they are as dross to me the embodiment of clear molten worth. Sound them upon the counter of thy affection, and the ring of their loves will be as false as that of a plugged half-dollar. They want not thee, but thy many golden shekels; while I am content with both. Come to me, dear heart, for without thee college life is as Sherman's war; with thee, tho I flunk on every exam, thy presence would be as the balm of Sloan's liniment on a gaping wound. Come, my own, for of extras and confinements there are many, and I cannot come to thee.

I am hasting this as fast as postage speed can fly. With a heart as full as a spreeing sailor, I send my love to thee. I would bring it, had I the carrying power of a freight, and the speed of any but a Southern train.

Yours until Niagara Falls,
Doctor G.

WINTER SCENES

177145

SINCE beginning this book
 We have tried all the while
 To say only those things
 That would bring a broad smile.
 If a tear you have shed
 Before reaching the end,
 Or the smile has been changed
 To a look of chagrin,
 Just remember the job
 We've been up against,
 And think it a joke,
 And not an offense.

And now we lay our pens to sleep
 And pray the Lord our souls to keep.

The Clemson Agricultural College

South Carolina's School of Engineering and Agriculture

One of the largest and best equipped Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges in the South. 1,544 acres of land. Value of plant, over $1,300,000. Over ninety teachers, officers, and assistants. Number of students, over eight hundred. Every County in South Carolina represented. Twelve Degree courses. Four Short courses. Twenty-six Departments of instruction. New and modern buildings, equipment, and sanitation. Over $100,000 is expended in public service.

Next Session Opens

Wednesday, September 9, 1914

Location and Environment

The College is located in Oconee County, at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, on the homestead of Jno. C. Calhoun, and later owned by his son-in-law, Thos. G. Clemson. The College is over eight hundred feet above the sea level, and the climate is healthful and invigorating. Temptations to dissipate or spend money foolishly are reduced to a minimum.

The students are under military government, and every effort is made to train up mainly young men, who will reflect credit on the College and on the State.

Religious Influences

The College contributes to the salaries of four resident ministers, who conduct divine services and do pastoral work at churches and among the cadets in barracks. There is a flourishing Sunday School and Y. M. C. A., with a salaried Y. M. C. A. Secretary, who lives in the barracks and exercises a wholesome influence over the young men, with whom he intimately associates.

Requirements of Admission

No student will be admitted to the Freshman Class who is not at least sixteen years old at the time of entrance.

An honorable discharge from the last school or college attended is required.

No student will be admitted who is not reasonably healthy, and free from contagious diseases, including tuberculosis.

Applicants for the Freshman Class must stand examinations, either at their county seat or at the College, unless they can fill out satisfactorily a prescribed certificate, furnished by the College, showing satisfactory preparation.

Scholarship and Entrance Examination, at County Seat, July 10, 9 a. m.

Next Session Opens September 9, 1914

Student Activities

Clemson College is a member of the Southern Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association and the South Carolina Inter-Collegiate Association, and engages in inter-collegiate baseball, football, track, tennis, basket-ball; has three literary societies, four student publications, a cadet band, a course of lyceum lectures and entertainments, etc.

Scholarships

The College offers 168 four-year scholarships in Agriculture and Textile Industry, and fifty-one one-year Scholarships in the One-Year Agricultural Course. The value of a scholarship is $100.00 per session and free tuition. The cost of these scholarships, nearly $22,000, is paid from the current funds of the College.

Examination for scholarships, at County Courthouse, on July 10, 9 a. m.

Courses of Study

The following four-year courses of study, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science, are offered:

Agriculture (7 Courses), Chemistry, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Textile Engineering, Architectural Engineering.

Four-Weeks' Course in Agriculture (For young men over eighteen years old. Begins January 12).

Four-Weeks' Course in Cotton Grading (Begins January 12).

Two-Year Course in Textiles. One-Year Course in Agriculture. (For young farmers eighteen years old or over; begins October 1, and ends June 1).

COST

The cost for any of the twelve regular four-year courses, or the Two-Year Textile Course, is $133.45 per session. This amount covers uniforms, board, room, heat, light, water, laundry, and all fees except tuition. Tuition is $40.00 additional to those who are able to pay.

The cost of the One-Year Agricultural Course is $117.45. This amount covers the same items as are listed above.

The cost of the Four-Weeks' Winter Course for Farmers, and the Four-Weeks' Course in Cotton Grading, is $10.00. This amount covers board, heat, light, and water. No uniforms are required.
